see separate sheet

1. The present application is concerned with a method of enhancing the nutritive value of a plant (or part thereof). The method comprises the step of neutralizing the activity of enzymes responsible for the proteolytic degradation of endogenous proteins with an inhibitor released from the plant.
2. None of the available prior art documents discloses a method according to claim 1 of the present application.
3. However, there are some doubts whether the application can be reduced to practise over the whole range claimed. In the prior art, reference is made to the increase of nutritional value through the inhibition of a proteinase inhibitor, which leads to increased degradation of endogenous proteins. This authority therefore concludes that the inhibition of protein degradation is not always linked to an enhanced nutritive value.
Moreover, it should be noted that the application does not demonstrate that the nutritive value would indeed be enhanced.
